

An independent bookstore in Hong Kong closed in the fall of 2021. The bookstore owner said he did so because of politics. How else is the city's political climate affecting its literary community?

Borrowed is a limited podcast series about those who have chosen to stay in the city and endure. Written, reported and produced by Jasmine Tse.

<https://podcasts.apple.com/us/podcast/borrowed/id1622138227>